

A Smile Increases Your Face Value

Date: 11/28/2011

Let's talk about improving one's smile, or cosmetic dentistry, which can range from simple whitening to bonding to veneers to crowns to gum treatments to full mouth treatment.

Of course every patient has their own individual needs and wants, but for some patients improving one's smile is a priority, and we have helped all ages, male and female, from all walks of life.

It was many years ago when an 80 year old patient changed my perception about cosmetic dentistry. In dental school we were taught that "older people" were not interested in looking better. That wasn't the case for my patient. He said he wanted to have a better smile because he was tired of looking at his old crowns and stained fillings, so we improved his smile. When he got what he wanted, I was as happy as he was because it changed his life for the better.

The value of a healthy smile is priceless.
